

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE IN HUMAN-CENTERED DESIGN THINKING

The Graduate Certificate in Human-Centered Design Thinking, offered through CSU Online, brings together learners from diverse disciplines who aspire to improve personal creativity and/or initiate and lead change in their respective fields. Courses prepare students with theories, strategies, and methods pertaining to the entire innovation process — from stakeholder research and problem finding through prototyping, user testing, and beyond.

Learn more about the Graduate Certificate in Human-Centered Design Thinking on the CSU Online website. (<https://www.online.colostate.edu/certificates/human-centered-design-thinking/>)

Learning Objectives

Upon successful completion of the certificate, students will have:

1. Cultivated an understanding of design thinking theories, methods, and processes.
2. Discovered the way expert designers think through making.
3. Envisioned how emerging technologies may shape human-centered design thinking processes in design and non-design fields.
4. Articulated the value of design thinking innovation to their own disciplines.
5. Developed a variety of design thinking skills and approaches through hands-on activities.