

MAJOR IN HISTORY, LANGUAGE CONCENTRATION

Students can increase their knowledge of world affairs and foreign languages with the Language concentration, that pairs well with language programs offered at CSU. It is a great choice for students who plan to pursue graduate study in history or international affairs, and for those who hope to work in the areas of national security, diplomacy, or international business.

Common Careers:

- College or University Professor
- Public Policy Writer
- Government Advisor
- Public Policy Writer
- Political Advising
- Military Consulting
- Editor
- Archivist
- Genealogist
- Research Associate
- Librarian
- Consultant
- Lawyer
- Law Enforcement

Learning Objectives

Upon successful completion, students will be able to:

1. Analyze and interpret historical materials, such as documents, artifacts, and images.

2. Engage in chronological reasoning, to understand causation and change over time.
3. Examine critically how people in the past understood their own history, in scholarly works and in popular forms such as myths or commemorations.
4. Interpret, write, and speak about the past using evidence and according to the standards and expectations of the historical discipline, including honest use of evidence, openness to multiple perspectives, and historical empathy.
5. Analyze how processes - such as revolution, migration, war, ecological disturbance, and globalization - shaped societies over time and how people grappled with issues like class, ethnicity, gender, race, religion, and ideology.